

The National Organization for Women has eight Fall semester internship positions available for interested students. With more than 500,000 contributing members, NOW is the largest feminist organization in the United States. Since NOW was founded in 1966, its members have struggled to end the injustice and inequality women face daily. As an intern, you will be on the front lines of the women's rights movement. An important element of our program is comprehensive leadership training. We hold a series of workshops to empower young feminists and give you the tools and knowledge to become leaders on your campuses and in your communities. You will learn the organizing skills from leaders of the most prestigious feminist organization in the world. Becoming a NOW intern is a commitment to apply the skills learned during the internship and to become, or continue to be, an activist leader.

Available Fall semester internships:

Government Relations/Public Policy Intern: Characterized by lobbying, legislative research and writing, and political campaign work. We have two openings for this position.

Field Organizing Intern: Get involved in the nuts and bolts of grassroots organizing for NOW's broad range of priority issues. Work on pickets, campaigns, conferences/summits, speaking tours and materials development. We have three openings for this position.

Communications Team: Research and write articles for the National NOW Times, assist in maintaining press clips, draft press releases and field press calls. We have one opening for this position.

Web Team: Be part of the team that maintains NOW's web site. Research, write and edit stories about women's issues, design graphics and build web pages. We have one opening for this position.

Political Action Committee: Assist with NOW/PAC organizing, including meeting with candidates, processing endorsement requests, and managing Federal Election Commission materials. We have one opening for this position.

Please send your cover letter, resume, writing sample and two letters of recommendation by Monday, Aug. 18 to NOW's intern coordinator, Lynsea Garrison, at volunteer@now.org. For any questions or concerns, please call (202) 628-8669 * 129. All internships are unpaid. Please visit our internship Web site for more information: <http://www.now.org/organization/intern.html>
